BLADE KAROLUS CELEBRATES 50YRS ON COUNCIL

Blade Karolus celebrates his 50th anniversary with the Council of Blades today. Zor Karolus first joined the Council when he was 32 after being appointed to replace Zor Karolus Sr. after his death that same year.

Karolus has remained a steadfast ally of reformers on the Council, first pushing for the ousting of the corrupt and short-lived People's Blade and working with other members to reform the city's election laws.

The Karolus family has been overseeing shipping operations in Mulmaster for over 100 years and the family personally lays claim to over half of the city's water infrastructure.

The Master Times Editorial Board wishes the 82 year old Blade a happy birthday and encourages everyone to pray to Azuth for his continued health.

JUST SAY 'NO' TO THAT DAMNED NECROMANCER

For months, residents of the city's South Gate Quarter have complained about grotesque and often nauseating displays put on by a city resident known only as 'The Necromancer'.

T.N. has been blamed for the recent sightings of walking skeletons, reanimated deceased loved ones, and even long-buried family pets.

When confronted, T.N. refuses to identify himself and flees from the city guard. He has so far evaded capture.

By decree of the Blades, Necromancy is forbidden within the city limits and has been for generations.

BEWARE! RECENT SPREE OF CRAZED ON LOOSE

Three times in the last three weeks authorities in the city have apprehended and put to death a crazed individual. The crazed, all young children, have been found mercilessly slaughtering passers-by in the Docks District and in the Market Quarter.

City Guard members have said that they've tried to subdue and calm the children, but nothing has worked. Guards say that these children are unusually strong and uncommunicative and broken their bonds multiple times, so they've been forced to behead the attackers.

Priests at the Tower of Mysteries filed a report with the Guard arguing that the children should have been left in their care saying, "These children should be cured of their ails and set to pay for their deeds by serving Azuth."

'QUEST TIME!' SAYS LIGHTKEEPER

Lighthouse Keeper, Dryn Stonewatch, is looking for help. Stonewatch says that one of the lights kept under guard at the lighthouse has gone missing—he blames a midnight heist. Stonewatch is looking for anyone who can either find the missing lamp or for a caster that can make a new one.

The missing lamp is not the primary light at the Lighthouse, but is instead one of the backup lights kept on hand for emergencies.

When asked why he wouldn't just request a visit from the Tower of Arcane Might he said, "Damn wizards just fleece ya for all you got. I can't afford their fees." When asked why he's upset with the Mages Guild he said, "It's a simple [spell]—just makes light. Not worth their price."
